Pitted Keratolysis

A (24-year-old) girl presented with multiple pitted ulcers over both soles associated with hypocalcemia for the past three months. On examination, multiple, faceted keratolytic lesions (ulcers) were seen over the lateral aspect of the great toes, the heel, and lateral aspect of the sole. The girl was on no medications and was advised to avoid wearing new footwear, the lesions resolved in two weeks.

BLOOD GAS ANALYSIS

Dr. S. Ramalingam

This book very clearly explains the basics of acid-base equilibrium, alterations of acid-base balance in the body, and compensatory mechanisms for these alterations. It is very well written with easy-to-read language and is an excellent book for residents in this field.
